

Just for Today

An abundance of money

There is an abundance of money - in fact, as much as you want. You've just got to trust and lean into it!

Lean into it? Think about it... picture a loaded wagon being pulled by a team of horses - the only way they're going to get anywhere is to lean forward, to lean in the direction they want to move and PULL.

Pull? Well, yes. You noticed I said a loaded wagon? Even though we lean forward to start moving, the heavier the load the slower the progress.

How can we lighten your load? We? Of course, the other factor is the more horses, the faster it goes. That means you - and me. Together we can move into abundance, faster than you alone. And with all that money ahead, who wants to wait?

Just for Today: What do you need to toss overboard? "Money phobia"? Not knowing what to focus on? Disorganized thoughts/environment? And what do you need to lean forward into: a clear vision of your best market? Super sales targets? Abundance? Lean into it. Lean forward.
